And Thanksgiving Time is coming. Three roosters they set up a horrible squawk,
And they stretched out their necks as the fowls
went down,
And they looked at the hens and the tomahawk,
As much as to say, "Don't he do it up brown!"
But men have stomachs and women must eat,
And nice chicken pie it is hard to beat,
And Thanksgiving time is coming.

Three corpses all cut up went into the dish,
The crust was put on and the edge scolloped

The crust was put on and the edge school down,
As juicy a pie as the stomach could wish,
When the oven had baked it all through, nice and brown.
For men must kill and women must est,
And good chicken pie is a very great treat,
When Tha. sgiving time is coming.

DINNERS AND BALLS.

Concerning the Table and the Dance.

An English paper is discussing questions of social life, and observes on the subject of din-

Most of us have travelled to an amazing exmost of us have traveled to an analysis of tent beyond the simple and original limits of appetite and its supply. Look at the "little dinner" which Jones gives to the Browns and the Smiths—all very worthy people, yet curi-ously unconscious that a hundred countries obsiy unconscious that a hundred countries are paying tribute to their respectable digestive organs. To set the table, first of all, has taxed Russia and Ireland for linen, the Spice Islands for the cruet-stand, Africa for the ivory-handled knives, Mexico for the plate and Honduras for the "mahogany tree" itself. The vermicelli in the soup has travelled from Naples, the oil for the fish from Tuscany; the Baltic, likely enough, has forwarded the caviar; and the Mediterranean, sardines for the hors downers. Then, not to speak of the native grown commodities which will grace that comfortable board—such as mutton from Wales or fortable board—such as mutton from Wales or the Grampians, turkeys from Norfolk, grouse from Scotland, and woodcock from Cornwall from Scotland, and woodcock from Cornwail—will the diners not have ice from American or Norwegian winters, wine from vineyards of the Garonne and the Rhone, sherry of Spain, and Rigieur of the Russian's or the Frenchman's making, with fruits from West Indian and Grecian islands, sweetmeats of Paris, and coffee gathered at Costa Rica, at Mocha, or, as it may be, Ceylon?

If the cantlemen, as is quite possible, smoke

If the gentlemen, as is quite possible, smoke after the banquet, Havana on one side of the world, and the Manilla on the other side, furnish them with the fragrant leaf—should the tobacconist be only conscientious; and when the ladies take tea. China transmits over sixteen thousand miles of water way to their comely lips the material for the steaming in-

Furthermore, the dresses which the company will wear, and their various ornaments, open a new chapter of geographical enumera-tion. Silkworms of Lombardy and Japan, looms of Genoa and Lyons, cotton growers in Egyptl, Tennessee, Brazil or Dharwar have united to array them; their gioves used to roam upon the Savoy mountains; their feathers flew about the palm groves of Sumatran archipelagoes; their 'marronly embonpoint is sustained by the bones of Arctic, whales; Persian oyster beds have supplied their pearls; and their chignons possibly once belonged to heads a thousand miles away.

It is curious to remark, in truth, that civilization—in the sense of community of customers. looms of Genoa and Lyons, cotton growers in

It is curious to remark, in truin, that civilization—in the sense of community of customs—is at present mainly confined to dinners and to dress. We cat together from all the menus of all the lands; and we array ourselves, menus of all the lands; and we array ourserves, in order to eat, in one and the same lugubrious style, throughout the civilized world. Dinner has effected what commerce, treaties, travels and Christianity never could compass; for widely diverse in all other particulars, the Englishman, Frenchman, American, German, Italian, Spaniard—and, in fact, all decent people within the range of Engeneral influence. nle within the range of European Influence— put on one and the same vestment when they "go to dinner." THE BALL-BOOM.

The same paper says:

A correspondent says that, in place of dance what he sees now-a-days in ball-rooms is ac owd of over-dressed people, who do little elter than tread, trample and maul each other's tollets about. Every now and then a space is cleared as for a fight; and a few couples contrive to execute certain spasmodic manusuvres without grace or dignity. No doubt in such a space a few couples may be occasionally be seen whirling about—waltzing they call it—like a set of dancing dervishes; but the exhibition is rather unpleasing than otherwise; and yet pretty young girls are the performers. This is the first point; there cannot be dancing where there's not space.

If you would give a ball, you must have a ball-room. All your devices of the property of the ball-room. All your devices of clearing away farniture and rigging up a little symbolical greenhouse on the landing place on the top of greenhouse on the landing place on the top of the first flight of stairs, are idle and of no avail. You have received one hundred and forty guests where forty should have och your limit. Unless you can perform the trick of putting a gailion of water into a pint bottle, you should give up the vain endeavor of packing your unfortunate fellow-creatures like herings in a barrel. More than half of the guests—may one dare to call them fellow-creatures?—are ladles with elaborate trains; what a pleasant time they must have of it, gasping about ant time they must have of it, gasping about on the staircases and in the lobbies! Without on the staircases and in the lobbies! Without space, and plenty of space, we repeat, there can be no dancing.

Under the next head—that of the dancers themselves—it is rather the fashion of the day that would seem to be at fault. Why are the bodies of the dancers and the souls of the spectators disquieted with gymnastic performances, under the pretext of waitzing and what not? An infuriated Zonave could scarcely keep up with the musicians in the mad hurly-burly of their passionate performance. Surely that is not dancing. A man has one advantage in his middle age in this year of grace, 1869. He may have seen the Dance of Four danced by 're best dancers, save one, who over tred the floor of the opera. Who ever 1869. He may have seen the Dance of Four danced by 'e best dancers, save one, who ever the following of the opera. Who ever saw Fannie Elisier, Carlotta Grisi, Cerito, or Luelle Grahn romping? Those ladies could dance. Had it been otherwise, what a renuke would have been administered to them when the Queen of Dance, the royal Taglioni herself, glided upon the scene, and showed us how graceful and exquisite was her art. She would as soon have thought of boxing with a coalas soon have thought of boxing with a coal-heaver as of jumping and prancing round a room after the fashion of our modern dancers.

The music, of course, is not a whit less astray than the dancing. Whether the musicians have bitten the dancers, or the dancers have bitten the musicians, is not for us to deterbitten the musicians, is not for us to determine; but quite certainly they have all gone mad together. One word, before we have done with this point, to ladies who will give monstrous balls in small honses. There must be room for music as well as for dancing. It is a cruel treatment of their guests to thrust half a dozen or even four musicians into one of their little back drawing-rooms, and bid them blow away for their lives. Nobody could spend a pleasant evening amid the din of a cotton factory. There should be harmony and proportion throughout.

Mr. J. B. Russell, one of our careful and intelligent Pharmaceutists and Apothecaries, has submitted to my examination the formula for the preparation of a Southing Cordial prepared and vended by him.

It affords me pleasure to express a favorable opinion of its sate and efficient adaptation to the particular cases of the diseases of children, which it is designed to relieve. finish and price. particular cases relieve. E. GEDDINGS, M. D.

Having had occasion to prescribe Russell's Soothing Cordial in severe cases of Bowel Com-plaints in children and delicate females, I have been much pleased with its enects. I consider it a valuable medicine in all cases, in which it may be advisable to avoid the use of anody ne, and par-tioularly for family use, as it is perfectly safe. W. T. WRAGG, M. D.

CHARLESTON, S. C., 1869. CHARLESTON, S. C., 1865.

Dear Sir—I have used your scothing Cordial for Barrhoa in techning children, and find it a very excellent preparation. It has a great advantage over most preparations of the kind in containing no oblim or Narcotic.

When these are required they can be added in proportions applicable to the case.

I therefore can recommend its use in the affections for which it is designed.

Respectfully yours, &c., Respectfully yours, &c., T. L. OGIER, M. D.

BECAREFUL WHAT MEDICINES YOU TAKE.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them: those who have not, know that it cured them their bors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails themselve as feating regrete of its composition. When you are exhausted by everwork of head or hand, and feel the need of something in vigorating, don't drink whisksy or any intoxicating thing, whether under the name of litters or otherwise. Such articles give just as much strength to your weary healy and mind as the while gives to the jaded horse, and no more.
